The Feast of the Holy Apostles Peter & Paul

"Today a joyous feast has beamed forth to all nations: the most precious memory of the most wise and major Apostles Peter and Paul. " (Stichera at the Aposticha of the Vespers service of the Feast) We owe to the Holy Apostles the priceless treasure of the Christian faith. They handed Christ's teachings down to us. From them, we received the Holy Gospel and the letters of the Apostles. They laid a firm foundation for the Church of Christ. The servant of God Metropolitan Andrew Sheptytsky speaks beautifully of the significance that the holy Apostles have for us; he says: "The Apostles in the full sense of the word are our parents in the holy faith. Through their hands, God gave to mankind and to every nation within Christ's Church all that belongs to the divine apostolic tradition. In our ascetical life and our sermons we must not forget, therefore, that we have received everything from their hands. All that we have, we owe to their apostolic labors and their prayers... St. Paul, the Apostle, claims first place, for in his letters he has given to the Church a rich revelation of God, and a wealth of divine teachings... The Liturgical Year gives the Apostle St. Peter first place, assigning to him two days in the year, namely, January 16th — the feast of St. Peter in Chains and June 29." (On the Veneration of Saints, 1941) On the 29th of June our Eastern Church celebrates with great solemnity the feast, which in our liturgical books is called: "The Holy Illustrious and Ever-praised Major Apostles, Peter and Paul." Both Apostles are distinguished for their character, their zealous apostolic labors and their great cult in holy Church.
